Teaching and Learning with AI

Are You Using AI in Teaching?

You are Invited to Contribute

CRTLE invites you to share your AI teaching practices with your colleagues! For example, how do you use ChatGPT to motivate, challenge, and/or elevate student learning? How do you use ChatGPT as assessments? Do you have creative teaching strategies for AI images such as DALL-E or Firefly?

If so, we invite you to complete the form at the link below and describe how you are using AI in teaching. On the form, select if you would like to:

1. Present your favorite way to teach with AI in a CRTLE session this spring semester (optional).
2. Contribute your idea to a CRTLE AI in Teaching resource guide we are building, where we will credit you as author, on the creative way(s) you use AI in teaching your classes (also optional, and pending your final review and permission).
