

UTASCILT 25th anniversary

University of Texas Arlington Student Conference in Linguistics and TESOL

Friday March 1st 2019—Carlisle Suite, University Center

9:00	Registration and Welcome
9:30	“Discourse markers as scalar frames: evidence from concessive repair sequences in English” Kristen Fleckenstein (UT Arlington)
10:00	“The use of tonal information during visual word recognition in adult L2 Chinese learners” Rongchao Tang (UT Arlington), Naoko Witzel (UT Arlington), Xiaomei Qiao (Shanghai University of Finance and Economics), Jia Chen (Shanghai University of Finance and Economics)
10:30	“Corpus creation for evaluating machine translation systems” Henry Anderson (UT Arlington)
11:00	Break
11:15	Keynote Address: “Linguistics as a Foundation for a Career in Higher Education Administration” Dr. David Silva (Salem State University)
12:30	Lunch
1:45	“Crosslinguistic grammaticalization of verb ‘take’ and functional implications” Lee Taegyeong (University of New Mexico)
2:15	“The value of the linguistics object to the urban revitalization process: a geosemiotics analysis” Ali B Aljohani (University of Memphis)
2:45	Break
3:00	“Constructed alien languages in science fiction films: a phonemic analysis” Ashlie Devenney (UT Arlington)
3:30	“Constraining massive pied-piping: a non-interrogative CP analysis” Daniel Amy (UT Arlington)
4:00	Break
4:15	Special Panel: “Teaching abroad: experiences and advice from faculty and students” Dr. Laurel Stvan (UT Arlington), Dr. Cindy Kilpatrick (UT Arlington), Emily A E Williams (UT Arlington), Alberto Balam Navarro-Medina (UT Arlington), Kelli Anderson (UT Arlington)
5:00	Poster Session: “The time course of morphological processing in visual word recognition” Michael Dover (UT Arlington), Emily A E Williams (UT Arlington), Naoko Witzel (UT Arlington) “Can Korean-English bilinguals distinguish Korean and English stop sounds?” Seung Ah Kwak (UT Arlington), William Kirton (UT Arlington), Juliet Huynh (UT Arlington), Ji Yea Kim- Stony Brook University, Naoko Witzel (UT Arlington) “Aspect and argument structure in a periphrastic causative suffix -key and a dative suffix -eykey in Korean” Lee Taegyeong (University of New Mexico)
5:30	Awards and Closing

#UTASCILT25