

ARCHAEOLOGY AT UTA

Department of Sociology and Anthropology

2022 Archaeological Field School

Way Ranch, San Marcos, TX

May 15 – May 31

ANTH 4398, 3 Hours.

This field school will take place on Way Ranch in San Marcos, Texas – a large, private property along the Blanco River. Students will be taught basic archaeological survey, excavation, and laboratory methods and will receive training in mapping using a Total Station.

Dates & Travel:

Class will meet Monday-Saturday (Saturday is a half day), May 16-May 31. Students will need to arrive in San Marcos at Way Ranch on May 15th to set up camp. Students will have free time Saturday afternoon/evening and Sunday and are welcome to drive home, or stay at the field site/San Marcos for the weekend. Students will need to arrange their own transportation to and from San Marcos but carpools will be arranged with the help of the instructor.

Cost & Logistics:

The cost per students will be 3 hours tuition (you will enroll in ANTH 4398 in the Summer 1st Five Weeks semester) + a $1200.00 course fee which includes all necessary archaeological equipment and food (Monday-Saturday). Students will be cooking indoors but will need bring their own tents and sleeping gear to camp along the Blanco River, showering and bathing is done either in the river and/or in private shower tents provided by the instructor. An extensive list of “What to Bring” will be distributed to students who enroll.

Deadlines:

Apply for the class by February 15th

Register for the class in MyMav and pay the $1200 course fee by April 15th

Payment by check required, make check out to: University of Texas at Arlington and write “Sociology/Anthropology” in the note section. Deliver to Mark Graves in the Sociology and Anthropology Front Office, UH 430.

Contact Professor Ashley Lemke for more information, or questions: ashley.lemke@uta.edu

Space is limited. Preference will be given to Anthropology majors, students with the most undergraduate hours, those who have taken Introduction to Archaeology, new applicants, etc.

ARCHAEOLOGY AT UTA

Department of Sociology and Anthropology
Archaeological Field School Way Ranch, San Marcos, TX
ANTH 4398, 3 Hours

APPLICATION

Deliver/email to Dr. Lemke, ashley.lemke@uta.edu, or mailbox in Sociology & Anthropology Front Office, UH 430

First name:

Middle name:

Last name:

Birthdate:

Street Address:

City/State/Zip Code:

Email:

Phone:

Emergency Contact (Name, relationship to student, address, telephone number, email):

Dietary Restrictions:

Health (mental & physical) information (including any/all medications):

Sickness-accident insurance is required for participation in the field school. Provide your insurer's name here and attach proof of insurance (scanned insurance card/policy):

Preparatory course work (Prior experience is not necessary, but list any/all anthropology or archaeology courses, fieldwork, or laboratory experience you have taken or conducted):

Please provide a personal statement of interest and experience in archaeology (200-500 words):