Canvas Migration Update
We have migrated approximately 1,030 courses from Blackboard to Canvas to save our faculty time and effort! We will still have one more group to migrate before the end of the summer. Thank you to all the faculty that have completed their training, our pilot group in Spring that ran ~35 courses in Canvas to help test our systems, and the faculty that are running courses in Canvas. The feedback has been very positive and the Canvas Team is grateful for your patience during this transition.

Faculty are reminded that Blackboard will not be available for Fall 2019 courses. If you have not completed your Canvas training, please contact Candice Beckham (beckmanc@uta.edu) for assistance.

Faculty and staff who use Blackboard Organizations: please contact Candice Beckham (beckmanc@uta.edu) for assistance.

Face-to-Face, Online and Hybrid Courses
Faculty are reminded that students must have full knowledge of the delivery method for their course at registration. Courses must only be changed within the delivery model of the original schedule of classes (MySchedule) and not be changed after the start of classes, unless permission is obtained from the Chair of Department and Dean. For example, a face-to-face course cannot become a hybrid course or online after the start of classes, unless extenuating circumstances are present, and permission is granted from the college leadership. For question, please contact Dr. Pranesh Aswath (aswath@exchange.uta.edu) or Dr. Antoinette Sol (amsol@uta.edu) in the Provost’s Office.
