Why is this needed?

Current and Pending Support is used to show all resources made available to an individual in support of research efforts regardless of whether they have value or not.

Current and Pending shows the current awards, pending proposals and in-kind support in support of the research endeavor for a PI.

This reports the effort committed to other funded projects, scientific or other overlap.

There are slight differences between the details that are requested by each sponsor. There are different formats and requirements that may be needed.

NSF
Current and Pending Support

❖This section of the proposal is used to assess the capacity of the individual to carry out the research as proposed, as well as to help assess any potential overlap/duplication with the project being proposed.

❖Required for ALL Senior Key Personnel

❖Current and pending support includes all resources made available to an individual in support of and/or related to all of his/her research efforts, regardless of whether or not they have monetary value.

❖Current and pending support also includes in-kind contributions (such as office/laboratory space, equipment, supplies, employees, students.

❖In-kind contributions not intended for use on the project/proposal being proposed that have associated time commitments also must be reported.

NSF
Current and Pending Support

❑Current and pending support information must be provided for this project, for ongoing projects, and for any proposals currently under consideration from whatever source irrespective of whether such support is provided through the proposing organization or is provided directly to the individual.

❑This includes, for example, Federal, State, local, foreign, public, or private foundations, non-profit organizations, industrial or other commercial organizations, or internal funds allocated toward specific projects.

❑A brief statement of the overall objectives of the project/proposal being proposed or in-kind contribution must be provided.

❑The submission also should summarize potential overlap with any active or pending proposal or in-kind contribution and this proposal in terms of scope, budget, or person-months planned or committed to the project by the individual.

❑The total award amount for the entire award period covered (including indirect costs) must be provided, as well as the number of person-months (or partial person-months) per year to be devoted to the project by the individual.

NSF Current and Pending Support

Please note, current and pending support information must be provided about all current and pending support, including this project, for ongoing projects, and for any proposals currently under consideration from whatever source (For example, Federal, State, local, foreign, public or private foundations, non-profits, industrial or other commercial organizations, consulting, or internal funds allocated toward specific projects), irrespective of whether such support is provided through the proposing organization or is provided directly to the individual.

All projects and activities, current or proposed, that require a time commitment (no minimum amount of time has been established) from the individual must be reported, even if the support received is only in-kind (such as office/laboratory space, equipment, supplies, employees, students).

NIH Other Support

NIH Other Support

- Information on other active and pending support may be requested (often as part of Just-in-Time procedures for grant applications or in progress reports) to ensure there is no scientific, budgetary, or commitment overlap.

- "Other Support" is sometimes referred to as "current and pending support" or "active and pending support."

- Required for All Senior/Key Personnel except Other Significant Contributors and Individuals involved in oversight of training grants

- Other Support includes all resources made available to a researcher in support of and/or related to all of their research endeavors, regardless of whether or not they have monetary value and regardless of whether they are based at the institution the researcher identifies for the current grant.

NIH Other Support

❖Resources and/or financial support from all foreign and domestic entities, that are available to the researcher.

❖ This includes but is not limited to, financial support for laboratory personnel, and provision of high-value materials that are not freely available (e.g., biologics, chemical, model systems, technology, etc.).

❖Consulting agreements, when the PD/PI or other senior/key personnel will be conducting research as part of the consulting activities.

❖Consulting activities that involve research and fall outside of an individual's appointment, separate from institution's agreement, must be disclosed as Other Support.

❖In-kind contributions, e.g. office/laboratory space, equipment, supplies, or employees or students supported by an outside source. If the time commitment or dollar value of the in-kind contribution is not readily ascertainable, the recipient must provide reasonable estimates

NIH Other Support

▪ Other support does not include training awards, prizes, or gifts.

▪ Gifts are resources provided where there is no expectation of anything (e.g. time, services, specific research activities, money, etc.) in return.

▪ An item or service given with the expectation of an associated time commitment is not a gift and is instead an in-kind contribution and must be reported as such.

NIH Other Support

Effective January 25, 2022, NIH requires the following (NOT-OD-21-073):

➢ Supporting documentation, which includes copies of contracts/agreements specific to senior/key-personnel foreign appointments and/or employment with a foreign institution for all foreign activities and resources that are reported in Other Support.

➢ Immediate notification of undisclosed Other Support. When a recipient organization discovers that a PI or other Senior/Key personnel on an active NIH grant failed to disclose Other Support information outside of Just-in-Time or the RPPR, as applicable, the recipient must submit updated Other Support to the Grants Management Specialist named in the Notice of Award as soon as it becomes known.
