Time and Place of Class Meetings

Wednesday from 2:00 p.m. to 4:50 p.m., Life Science Building, Rm. LS 420. Class will begin on August 25, 2021 and end on December 15, 2021.

Description of Course Content

This is a general overview course designed for graduate students with interests in I/O psychology. The course is designed to provide an intensive survey of topics relating to the study of organizational psychology. Some of the topics that will be covered include organizational development and change, leadership, teams, and organizational climate and culture. The structure of class sessions will be directed discussion. Students are expected to attend class prepared for discussion and interaction.

Student Learning Outcomes

Each week will be devoted to a particular topic. Successful completion of this course will require students to: a) learn and become familiar with each topic's basic concepts and theories; b) learn and understand how to apply those concepts and theories in the workplace; and c) develop and refine the knowledge and skills to function more effectively in today's organizations. Specific learning outcomes include:

1. Articulate and critically assess the current research and practice in organizational psychology.
2. Identify the theoretical approaches related to each major topic area.
3. Interpret the various methodologies used to study each topic area.
4. Give examples of, describe, explain the connections among the various topics.
5. Gain experience presenting and discussing material.
6. Translate technical information and psychological principles into useable applications for practitioners.

Required Textbooks and Other Course Materials

- Jex, S. M., and Britt, T. W. (2015). Organizational psychology: A scientist-practitioner approach. Hoboken: NJ
- Additional readings, as required.

Descriptions of Major Assignments

There will be one major group project that students will work on throughout the semester and one individual paper summary. Additionally, a variety of in-class activities and assignments will be given throughout the semester. Detailed instructions about course assignments will be communicated on the first day of class. Written instructions will be posted on Canvas, as dictated by the needs of the assignments. There will be no exams in this course.

Grading Information

Grading

Grades will be computed as follows:

- | | |
|-----------------------------------|--------------------|
| • Participation* | 20% of final grade |
| • Summary paper and presentation | 20% of final grade |
| • In-class activities/assignments | 20% of final grade |
| • Case for Change project | |
| ○ Consultant | 30% of final grade |
| ○ Board member | 10% of final grade |

The course grades will be assigned as follows:

A	90 – 100%
B	80 – 89%
C	70 – 79%
D	60 – 69%
F	0 – 59%

An “A” is not a guarantee in this class; it must be earned by the student.

Students may at any time during office hours or by appointment throughout the semester confer with the instructor about his/her grades and class progress.

*Participation

Each student brings to the class knowledge and experience in different areas; thus, I expect and look forward to active contribution by every student. Clearly this cannot be accomplished without having read the assigned materials in advance of class sessions. In part, your class participation grade is based on you coming to class prepared to ask questions, make comments, and constructively contribute to class discussions. Voluntary participation on your part is certainly preferred; however, your participation will be actively “encouraged” by me, if necessary. Specific participative actions include but are not limited to group and individual class activities, contributing to class discussion, commenting on and addressing questions about the readings, satisfactorily addressing instructor questions, participating in Q&A, etc.

It should go without saying that you are expected to maintain a professional, respectful demeanor at all times. Points will be deducted from your participation grade for inappropriate behavior and you may be asked to leave the classroom.

Attendance

At The University of Texas at Arlington, taking attendance is not required but attendance is a critical indicator of student success. Each faculty member is free to develop his or her own methods of evaluating students’ academic performance, which includes establishing course-specific policies on attendance. As the instructor of this course, attendance is mandatory and promptness is expected. Participation points will be deducted for unexcused absences and late arrivals (late = anytime after 2:00 p.m. on a regularly scheduled class day). However, while UT Arlington does not require instructors to take attendance in their courses, the U.S. Department of Education requires that the University have a mechanism in place to mark when Federal Student Aid recipients “begin attendance in a course.” UT Arlington instructors will report when students begin attendance in a course as part of the final grading process. Specifically, when assigning a student a grade of F, faculty report must the last date a student attended their class based on evidence such as a test, participation in a class project or presentation, or an engagement online via Canvas. This date is reported to the Department of Education for federal financial aid recipients.

Grade Grievances

Any appeal of a grade in this course must follow the procedures and deadlines for grade-related grievances as published in the current University Catalog (see Graduate Grading Policies; Student Complaints). Refer to the psychology department’s current Graduate Student Handbook for policies related to grade grievances.

Course Schedule

A detailed course schedule including topics, required readings, assignments due, etc. will be provided on the first day of class.

Additional Course Information

Communication

When communicating with faculty members and other professionals, all students are expected to communicate in a professional and formal manner regardless of the media (phone, e-mail, face-to-face, etc.). This includes addressing one’s audience using his/her proper title, using proper grammar, and using proper spelling. How one delivers a message is often as important as the message itself. Thus, I expect students to communicate professionally when communicating with me. This includes, but is not limited to, using proper greetings and an appropriate tone. Communications deemed inappropriate will not receive a response.

Electronic Mail

UT Arlington has adopted MavMail as its official means to communicate with students about important deadlines and events, as well as to transact University-related business regarding financial aid, tuition, grades, graduation, etc. All students are assigned a MavMail account and are responsible for regularly checking the inbox. There is no additional charge to students for using this account, which remains active even after graduation. Information about activating and using MavMail is available at <http://www.uta.edu/oit/cs/email/mavmail.php>.

This instructor will use your UT Arlington student e-mail account for official communication regarding this course. Class announcements will also be posted on the Canvas system. I will respond to emails and other messages within 24-48 hours, except for weekends and holidays. My expectation is that you will also respond promptly to my emails.

Institution Information

UTA students are encouraged to review the below institutional policies and informational sections and reach out to the specific office with any questions. To view this institutional information, please visit the Institutional Information page (<https://resources.uta.edu/provost/course-related-info/institutional-policies.php>) which includes the following policies among others:

- Drop Policy
- Disability Accommodations
- Title IX Policy
- Academic Integrity
- Student Feedback Survey

- Final Exam Schedule

Mandatory Face Covering Policy

While the use of face coverings on campus is no longer mandatory, all students and instructional staff are strongly encouraged to wear face coverings while they are on campus. This is particularly true inside buildings and within classrooms and labs where social distancing is not possible due to limited space. If a student needs accommodations to ensure social distancing in the classroom due to being at high risk they are encouraged to work directly with the Student Access and Resource Center to assist in these accommodations. If students need masks, they may obtain them at the Central Library, the E.H. Hereford University Center's front desk or in their department.

Student Success Programs

UT Arlington provides a variety of resources and programs designed to help students develop academic skills, deal with personal situations, and better understand concepts and information related to their courses. Resources include tutoring by appointment, etutoring, supplemental instruction, mentoring (time management, study skills, etc.), success coaching, and student success workshops. For additional information, please email resources@uta.edu, or view the Maverick Resources website.
