I acknowledge the grave harm brought by colonialism to this land, especially the systematic attempts to erase indigenous and African identities through violence, slavery and racist segregation laws.

SOCIAL JUSTICE SPOTLIGHT

World Humanitarian Day
August 19, 2021

“This day was designated in memory of the 19 August 2003 bomb attack on the Canal Hotel in Baghdad, Iraq, killing 22 people, including the chief humanitarian in Iraq, Sergio Vieira de Mello. In 2009, the United Nations General Assembly formalized the day as World Humanitarian Day (WHD). Each year, WHD focuses on a theme, bringing together partners from across the humanitarian system to advocate for the survival, well-being and dignity of people affected by crises, and for the safety and security of aid workers. This year, we highlight the immediate human cost of the climate crisis by pressuring world leaders to take meaningful climate action for the world’s most vulnerable people.”

Join #theHumanRace

Run, ride, swim, walk or do any activity of your choice for a cumulative 100 minutes between August 16 and August 31 in solidarity with vulnerable people and to tell world leaders that they expect developed countries to deliver on their decade-old pledge of $100 billion annually for climate mitigation and adaptation in developing countries.

YOU MATTER

Environment

Reflecting social work’s person-environment framework, the environments we find ourselves in can exert a powerful influence on our health and how we feel. Negative and “unpleasant” environments have a significantly negative impact on our mood and emotions and physical health and well-being, including increases in stress, anxiety, depression, and a wide range of illnesses.

In contrast, positive environments promote relaxation, release stress, reduce a spectrum of negative emotions, enhance immune and cardiovascular function, relieve pain, restore attention, support peace and calm, and lead to greater connection with others and heightened feelings of community.

The most consistently positive and healing environment appears to be nature.

What does it mean to be in a nature environment? Wonderfully, that’s all up to you! Nature environments that are proven to be healing range from nature walks and sitting outside without technology, to having a view of nature from your window at work, a plant in your room or office, even a wall painted green.

Therefore, you may find nature healing by taking some technology/distraction-free time outside, a neighborhood walk, opening the blinds and working next to your open windows, gardening, even taking care of an indoor plant, or other experiences that feel like nature to you! Ultimately, explore what nature means to you, intentionally spend time with it, and be renewed!

MSW | Doctoral Student | Adjunct Professor

Calling All Health Social Work Students!
Health with Hearts is currently looking for officer candidates for Fall 2021. The following positions are available: Vice-President, Secretary, and Community Liaison.

Health with Hearts is a student lead organization building community and connection for Social Work students in the Health Care field. We engage in community outreach and volunteering. We provide our members with a chance to network and learn from the experts in our field.

We understand the harsh and busy schedule that comes with being a grad student so, our goal is to host only 2-3 high-value activities per semester. The officer team meets to plan and coordinate the activities. Meeting times/locations are based on consensus of the officers.

If you are an eager social work student with a Health focus who wants to gain knowledge, network, and empower peers, consider leadership.

Submit your interest to Diana dicasara@uta.edu by August 30th. Include your name, time in the MSW program, expected date of graduation, and the officer position you are interested in holding. I'm looking forward to hearing back from you and remember, leadership always looks great on a resume and is a good talking point with future healthcare employers!

If you like You Matter posts and want to explore them more deeply, please consider joining us for a Wounded Healers meeting. You can find us on Teams!

Financial Aid for new School of Social Work Distance Education Fee

The University announced recently that students charged Distance Education (DE) fees for fall 2021 online courses may be eligible for financial aid if they are facing extraordinary educational and economic challenges due to the COVID-19 pandemic. Additional information, including a University online application form, will be available after September 13 for regular session courses. The University announcement mentioned only the $25 per credit hour DE Fee. For students taking online School of Social Work classes, you are charged an additional $65 per credit hour DE fee. If you are determined eligible by the University to receive financial aid for the $25 per credit hour of the DE fee and you are a School of Social Work student, then the remaining balance of $65 per credit hour will also be covered. This is in effect for as long as the University continues this waiver program or thru the Spring 2022 semester, whichever comes first. To coordinate with the University, further details regarding this process will be forwarded on or about September 13th.

If you are having challenges paying tuition and fees before fall classes start, it is suggested that you submit a request to the University to be on a payment plan.

If you have questions about your bill please contact Student Accounts.
