Global Diversity Awareness Month

Global Diversity Awareness celebrates and embraces the beliefs and cultures around the world and celebrating our similarities. We learn and reflect on different cultures and how those experiences create better environments in our work life, classroom and daily routines.

We have a truly multicultural society. Advancement in technology and globalization has made connection much easier and borders non-existent. Language barriers no longer pose an issue. As we continue to embrace incorporating multicultural practices in our work, school and everyday lives, we progress as a society.

There are ways to celebrate and be active this month.

– Connect with people throughout the world. Thanks to technology, you can reach out to someone on the other side of the world, learn about their lives and culture.
– Host a multicultural movie night.
– Listen and play music from around the world.
– Support minority-owned businesses.
– Attend a cultural art exhibit.

YOU MATTER

Being in school is exhausting at times. The readings. The papers. The tests. Our minds are focused on absorbing facts and creating knowledge, which is great! But spending all that energy on schoolwork can leave you feeling a little unbalanced.

When was the last time you used your energy to create something outside of social work knowledge? Something that doesn’t need to have a grade or deadline attached to it? If it’s hard to remember, maybe it’s time to put down the books for a second and focus your attention on creating just for the sake of creating. I think you’ll be surprised at how replenishing this can be.

Creativity is your imagination put into action. Creativity looks like a new idea, artwork, or trying out a new way of doing things. Building your creativity is beneficial to your career as it allows you to think outside of the box and problem-solve in new ways. It also gives us a little relief throughout the day. For example, I wake up every morning and start with a guided meditation to help clear my mind. Then, I play Animal Crossing for an hour😊😊 I enjoy decorating my island even if it has no real value to anyone but me.

If you aren’t into video games, don’t worry! There are still other ways to express your creativity. I’ve made a list of a couple of things I’ve done when I’m feeling a little stuck on a problem or I’m just hitting a wall when working on an assignment. Maybe some will work for you. If they don’t, perhaps, they’ll at least inspire you to keep finding things that give your mind a little freedom to explore.

1. Put on a song and draw what you hear. It sounds a little different, but it’s a fun challenge to find the best colors and shapes that represent a song.
2. Draw a few scribbles on a blank page. Try to find a way to draw a picture based on your scribbles.
3. Write or tell a story based on an event in your life. Put as much detail as you can. What were you thinking? Feeling? Remember any scents or views? Once you’re done identifying as many facts as you can, try finding metaphors to describe your original facts.
4. Pick a random word (I usually use an online word generator). Find a piece of art (drawing, song, music video, etc.) that connects to that word. Or, try creating a collage based on this word.
5. Go outside and make a list of at least ten things you found interesting. If it’s difficult for you, maybe it’s a sign to stay out longer.

These are just some of the things I do. I’d love to hear what you do to give your mind some creative breaks.

THERE WILL BE LIGHT REFRESHMENTS
REQUIRED COVID-19 TESTING

Beginning Monday, Sept. 13, students, faculty and staff coming to any UTA campus in any capacity will be selected at random for mandatory COVID-19 testing.

Until further notice, 20% of our campus population, regardless of vaccination status, will be selected each week for testing. Notifications will come from covidtesting@uta.edu, and you will have seven days to get tested after being selected. If you have any questions, contact covidtesting@uta.edu.

UTA has a number of on-campus testing options that meet the required criteria and are free. Results received from an on-campus testing option will automatically be reported to the University with no further action required on your part.

Results from off-campus testing sites will be accepted, though you will not be reimbursed for costs. Test results from an off-campus testing site will be uploaded to the COVID-19 Self Report portal in MyMav.

Remember, if you test positive, please follow the CDC’s isolation protocols and submit the Personal Diagnosis Form.

UTA’s COVID-19 testing resources are always available to you should you need or want a test; you do not need to wait until you are selected for random testing.

Covid-19 Vaccine

Click to find vaccine opportunity.

Listen to UTA public health experts explain why getting a COVID-19 vaccine is beneficial for you and your community.

Flu Shots

Health Services recommends getting vaccinated by the end of October to be protected against flu before the start of flu season. Email the Immunization Clinic with your name, date of birth, student ID number, and phone number to schedule your free flu shot.
