1. Virtual Overnight Event: "Race, Violence, Trauma, and Mental Health: Contemporary Issues & Emerging Solutions" on June 17th at Noon
2. "Gender Diversity in a New Decade: Webinar on Gender Diversity and Inequality in the Workplace" on June 18th at 9:30 am
3. "Virtual Graduation Celebration: BSW Fall 2020" on June 19th at 2:00 pm
4. "Virtual Graduation Celebration: BSW Summer 2020" on June 19th at 4:00 pm

The Austin Parks and Recreation Department’s George Washington Carver Museum, Cultural and Genealogy Center in Austin, Texas, will host a virtual celebration of Juneteenth on June 19th at 2:00 pm. The celebration will include a program on the history of Juneteenth, a discussion of the Emancipation Proclamation, and a Q&A session with experts on African American history.

The Time Is Now: Black Lives Matter

Race, Violence, Trauma, and Mental Health

Minor Spotlight: Diversity Studies Minor

The Diversity Studies options (Certificate or Minor) are designed for students who are interested in exploring the diversity of human experience and the factors that shape it, including race, ethnicity, gender, sexuality, social and economic inequality, and many other dimensions of human diversity. The Diversity Studies options provide students with the knowledge and skills to understand and engage with the diversity of human experience in a global context.

Social Justice Spotlight

The Power of Empathy: The Difference Between "Idiot! Why do you talk to me like this?" and "Idiot! Why do my friends talk to you like this?"

When you notice that your talk is negative or judgmental, try to reframe it in a more positive way. For example, instead of saying "Idiot! Why do you talk to me like this?" you might say "Idiot! Why do my friends talk to you like this?" This can help you see that your talk is not necessarily directed at the person you are speaking to, but rather at the way that you and your friends are treated in general.
