I acknowledge the grave harm brought by colonialism to this land, especially the systematic attempts to erase indigenous and African identities through violence, slavery and racist segregation laws.

Advocate for Medicaid Expansion!

UTA’s Social Work student body’s support and action is needed in advocating for Medicaid expansion this Texas legislative session. As Texas is one of only twelve states that has not expanded Medicaid, Texas social workers must be involved in the fight for Medicaid expansion. More than 5 million Texans live without access to health care and Medicaid expansion will be a lifeline to the more than 2.2 million Texans who will gain access with expansion. Medicaid Expansion will only pass this session with bold bipartisan leadership during this ongoing public health crisis. Representative Angie Chen Button (R, Texas HD 112) has expressed interest in getting involved in Medicaid expansion and your help is needed to convince her to become a champion for expansion this session! Check out the Texas Social Workers for Medicaid Expansion Toolkit so that you can take actionable steps towards healthcare justice in our state (such as tweeting or writing a letter or email to Rep. Chen Button). All of the tools, including talking points, background information, and resources are included in the toolkit.
New Beginnings

Prior to the break I was asked what I had planned that would be just for myself while away from school for the week. I didn’t have an answer. And that troubled me. I thought to myself, “Do I really not know what I need? And if not, how do I figure it out?”

Not knowing what I needed, I focused on what I didn’t need. I didn’t need more emails, Teams obligations, or online meetings. I didn’t need more outside chatter, at least not until I got back in touch with myself. So, I planned to unplug from the virtual world.

Over the next few days, sitting in the relatively quiet mind space that comes from a digital disconnect, I realized how tired I was and have been for some time now—when I am this tired, I find that time in nature, laying in the sun is a great way to rest and recharge. After many days where I did little more than just lay in the sun, I was overcome with feelings of just how hard this Covid calendar year has been. It has changed and challenged so much in my life that seem to be positive and protective factors. Virtual school, work, meetings, meetups, friend time, hangouts, and conversations are no replacement for the real thing... Ugh!...

But there was something else I was struck by during my quiet time in nature, something that was recharging me: it’s Spring!

Recently, I was in a Teams chat with graduate student leader Denise Draper, and she said, “Spring is a great time to begin something new as it aligns with the natural cycle of growth and new beginnings.” Yes! That’s exactly right! And that was exactly what was working in me.

Thinking about this great symbol from nature, I realize that I have been fighting what I cannot change. While I cannot change these circumstances, I can change my response to them. I can grow. I am growing. And so are you! And the more intentional you are the more meaningful and useful your growth may be.

Where could you use a new beginning, a fresh start? How might you be able to begin again after returning from Spring Break? How might you be ready to grow? What do you want to do, and how do you want to do it? This is the perfect time for something new!

This week, this season, consider your new beginnings and what growth you want to realize—whether that’s in school, work, relationships, or a new path on your own life journey—and tend to that every day. Life is blossoming all around you; it’s only natural that it blossom within you too... Here’s to new beginnings☺
